THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY IN THE MINISTRY OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY (SHRI BACHI SINGH RAWAT): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) and (c) As per the seismic zoning map prepared by the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS), the country has been divided into five seismic zones. Out of these zones, zone 5 is considered to be the most severe while the zone 1 is the least. In order to quantify the seismic hazard in the country, the Government has initiated a programme on micro-zonation of the various cities located in zones—4 & 5. As a first step in this direction, micro-zonation of Jabalpur in Madhya Pradesh has been started and is expected to be completed in about a year. India Meteorological Department (IMD) has recently upgraded its seismological observational network for better location and detection of earthquake activity. Through the scientific studies, building codes have been prepared by BIS and are available for use of public. These codes need to be adequately used for design & construction of buildings and retrofitting of the existing structures.

Diversion of Lab Reserve Fund towards Phone Bills in CSIR Labs
